Non-Ops Swiftly Move Against Sole Mediator

OTTAWA (CP) — The non-operating railway unions moved quickly today to oppose the appointment of a lone conciliator—even a Canadian of high public stature—to try to solve their dispute with the major rail-

Frank Hall, chief negotiator for the 15-union team representing some 110,000 railwaymen, insisted on the appointment of a three-man conciliation board in a meeting today with Labor Minister Starr.

"A conciliation officer cannot and will not settle the dispute," he said later in an interview. "The unions will resist and resist unwarranted delays in procedure."

He added: "The non-operating railway unions oppose the request of the companies for a conciliation officer to deal with the present dispute."

"What we want is the usual full-dress and fully-documented hearings before a conciliation board."

SEE NO VALUE

"The railways know perfectly well that nothing can be accomplished by intervention of a conciliation officer acting as mediator."

The union leader said the railways have waived the conciliation officer stage in previous disputes.

"Their change of attitude on this occasion would appear therefore to be a delaying action."

Mr. Hall described as "nonsense" a suggestion that a lone conciliation officer could play a free-handed role in trying to solve the dispute while a conciliation board might be subject to pressures and generally operate within a legalistic, courtroom atmosphere.

"Help Needed" to Tackle Okanagan Flood Control

By FARMER TISSINGTON (Courier Ottawa Correspondent)

OTTAWA—Flood control on the Similkameen and Rock Creek rivers in posing a problem in the Okanagan. David Pugh, member of parliament for Okanagan-Boundary, said here this week.

"We have too much water and it comes off the mountain too quickly. I am referring specifically to the Similkameen river which is in my constituency. We have a similar situation on the Rock Creek river," Mr. Pugh explained. "Briefly, our problem is that we have a high run-off, practically an uncontrollable run-off. We need federal and provincial help to tackle the engineering problem. I am hoping that ARDA, as its program develops, will have the answer."

He said that, generally speaking, the agricultural policies brought in by the Conservative government in the past five years have been excellent. Their benefits have been felt in the Okanagan region, the Similkameen region and in the Grand Forks area.

MORE PROGRESS

Referring to the government's Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, Mr. Pugh expressed the hope that now that a director has been appointed, further strides could be made.

Control of the Similkameen presents many problems and the work might be undertaken by the provincial government in co-operation with the federal government and local authorities. Or, the work might be undertaken by one of the authorities separately or in conjunction with the others.

"In any case, I think the work will be expensive enough to warrant the federal government sharing the cost with the provincial and local authorities," Mr. Pugh stated.

He said he was seeking further information about the organization and operation of ARDA so that he will be in a position to advise his constituents how they can go about getting aid under the terms of the act.

NO LEEWAY FOR LICENCELESS CAN BE EXPECTED IN KELOWNA

Kelowna RCMP will grant no leeway to licenceless motorists after midnight tonight—deadline time.

Staff-Sgt. R. B. McKay said today motorists have had lots of time to buy their 1962 plates.

More than 1,000 plates still have to be sold to meet tonight's deadline, said government agent Ross Oatman today. He reported a "booming business" Tuesday as 1,000 plates were bought.

Powers Handled Capture 'About Best He Could'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special inquiry board has finished its questioning of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, high government sources said today, and Powers may appear before Congressional committees and a press conference soon.

Meanwhile, the 32-year-old flyer will be kept behind a wall of secrecy, although government officials said he is a free agent and can come and go as he pleases. They said, too, that it will be up to Powers himself to decide whether he wishes to hold a press conference.

This is the situation as outlined by one administration spokesman: The inquiry board that looked into the Powers case has turned over its report Tuesday to John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency. McCone now is reviewing it and it is who will make the final decision on what is to be done about Powers, if anything.

The board was reported to have concluded that under the circumstances, Powers handled himself about as well as he could when his high-altitude photographic reconnaissance plane was downed in Russia May 1, 1960.

Indian Villages In BC 'On A Par With Ghettoes'

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Indian villages are not much better than ghettoes, a seminar on Indian education was told.

Bill Reid, who is of Haida Indian descent, told the seminar at the University of British Columbia the department of Indian affairs should be primarily concerned with setting up Indian villages as self-sufficient communities where Indians and white men can live and work together.

He said the department should operate on a "self-liquidating" basis and added that perhaps 25 years would complete the job.

Mr. Reid, a former radio announcer, said Indians will continue to be second-class citizens as long as they live on reserves and no attempt is made to integrate them into the white population.

He also suggested the settlement will be on his terms. And he told the House that he would be happy to go to the people in a general election on the issue of the government's policy to develop the Peace and Columbia rivers simultaneously.

Opposition Leader Strohman asked him to name the date, but his challenge drew no reply.

Of the Columbia, the premier said: "I think at long last we've broken this impasse."

A few minutes earlier he had implied that he will meet with the prime minister soon after a weekend visit to unspecified United States centres to talk with American power authorities.

GAVE NO DATE He made no positive statement that he has any appointment with Mr. Diefenbaker. But he told the House he will leave rejection of B.C.'s proposal to

Women, Children Among 30 Killed In Bomb Orgy

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Two time bombs exploded in the western Algerian city of Oran today, killing 30 Moslems and injuring 50. The bombs, one hidden in a car and the other in a truck, ripped through a busy street in a Moslem quarter.

The blasts, which claimed women and children among the victims, damaged several buildings and set Moslems in the quarter into a ferment.

French troops backed by armored cars sealed off the area. One of the soldiers was killed by gunfire from an unknown attacker.

TWO MOSLEMS SHOT Earlier, two Moslems were killed by unknown gunmen behind a cathedral in Oran's centre and 10 simultaneous explosions rocked the fringes of the Jewish and Moslem districts.

No casualties and only minor damage were reported in the blasts.

In Algiers itself, one Moslem was killed and two other persons, one of them a European, were killed in gun and grenade attacks this morning.

Security forces, meanwhile, were reported to have killed three persons and wounded 10 Tuesday when they opened fire on a crowd of 300 young Moslems shouting "Algerian Algeria."

The incident took place at Ouargla in the Sahara just before Louis Jacquinot, France's minister for the Sahara, arrived.

There were gasps from some Conservative backbenchers as Lloyd announced he had not kept his promise of last July to keep increases in estimated government expenditure for 1962-63 down to not more than 2½ per cent.

Randolph Harding (NDP-CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) said in the B.C. Legislature Tuesday Wenner-Gren plans to develop the Rocky Mountain Trench area were the biggest political hoax in the history of the province.

Senator Gunnar Thorvaldson said Tuesday in Ottawa the overwhelming majority of Canadians do not believe that Canada's foreign policy toward Cuba should be a servile following of the United States position.

President Ngo Dinh Diem, looking calm and collected despite Tuesday's airborne attack on his life, drove through Saigon under heavy guard Tuesday and visited the naval base.

The Duke of Edinburgh, asked by Bolivian reporters at a press reception in La Paz Tuesday whether the Queen was expecting another baby this year, replied: "No, it is not possible."

SAIGON (Reuters)—South Viet Nam government officials said today five persons—including an American—were killed and 30 injured during the bomb and rocket attack on the palace of President Ngo Dinh Diem here Tuesday.

A palace servant and three other civilians were killed in the actual attack by two air force AD-6 planes.

Contractor Sydney Ambrose, 59, of Portland, Ore., was killed when he fell from a roof while watching the planes during the 30-minute attack.

Big New York 'Blas' Set For Astronaut

NEW YORK (CP)—This city is planning one of its biggest bluffs of all time to welcome Lieut.-Col. John Glenn and his six fellow astronauts Thursday.

Friday for the U.S. to have discussions on power matters and he added:

"Following that I will visit Ottawa."

Mr. Bennett said he has a new pen pal in Ottawa—the prime minister of Canada—who "has taken the ball" from Finance Minister Fleming and Justice Minister Fulton—chief Ottawa spokesman on Columbia affairs.

He was convinced he and Mr. Diefenbaker "can work out the development of the Columbia."

Mr. Bennett told the House the government continues to press forward with its two-river development policy.

"This government is just as much for the Columbia as it is for the Peace," he said.

The government was confident it could build and finance both projects and "we won't take one cent of the taxpayer's money to do it."

He said he had written to Finance Minister Fleming four weeks ago requesting another meeting to discuss differences over financing methods on the Columbia and had not received any reply.

The differences lie in Ottawa's rejection of B.C.'s proposal to

Federal Budget Likely Before House In April

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal dollar to a discount to give Canadian exports a competitive price edge on world markets and discourage imports.

It is understood that no precise formula of business tax incentives has yet been worked out. Presumably it would be linked to additional profits made through increased production by an industry.

Mr. Fleming has finished hearing a series of economic and tax-change briefs from various organizations and his department officials now are busy sorting out and evaluating various proposals.

Although federal finances still are in a tight position—a $650,000,000 deficit was forecast in the last budget for this fiscal year—it is understood that the idea of strong tax incentives to business has been accepted in principle.

CHOSE DOLLAR DISCOUNT This idea was put forward a year ago but was not adopted then. Instead, Mr. Fleming chose a course of reducing the exchange value of the Canadian

Floods Drive Hundreds From Kentucky Homes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Damaging floodwaters from rain-swollen rivers and streams poured across broad lowland areas in Kentucky and three adjacent states today, driving hundreds of persons from their homes.

The floods, in the wake of persistent rains, appeared to have caused the most damage and inconvenience in eastern and southeastern Kentucky.

But there was much flooding and evacuation of families in West Virginia and Tennessee. In Ohio, several rivers were above flood stage but the situation did not appear critical.

At least two communities in Kentucky and one in West Virginia were isolated by the rampaging floodwaters. Scores of roads were blocked, including 50 in Kentucky. Some main highways in both Kentucky and West Virginia were impassable.

Guards Will Be Kept Up Despite IRA Peace Move

DUBLIN—The threat of hit-and-run attacks on the Irish border apparently has been lifted with an announcement by the Irish Republican Army that it is abandoning its terrorist war to unite the island. The IRA said in a statement this week that all of its fighters, estimated at about 1,500, have been ordered to end their harassment of the Northern Ireland's government and throw away their arms. Both sides of the border welcomed the announcement. But Northern Ireland's government said it will keep its guard up. The 1,000-word statement, handed to newspaper offices here by strangers, said IRA members have called a halt to five years of bombing and shooting attacks because of public opposition.

The statement added, however, that "the movement remains intact and is in a position to continue its campaign in the occupied areas (Northern Ireland) indefinitely."

assured that security precautions will be maintained."

The IRA statement said that during the five-year campaign more than 600 operations were carried out. Casualties included six killed and 23 wounded, it said.

SERVE JAIL TERMS

Two IRA men were killed in action and seven died accidentally during the same period. Forty-three IRA men are serving jail terms in Belfast, Northern Ireland; 42 in Dublin, and three in England, it said.

The IRA was formed in 1913 as a splinter group of the Irish Volunteers, dedicated to secure and maintain the rights and liberties common to all the people of Ireland."

PUBLIC 'DISTRACTED'

The IRA blamed its lack of public support on apathy and government muzzling of the press. "The minds of the general public have been deliberately distracted from the supreme issue—the unity and freedom of Ireland," it said.

Charles Haughey, minister of justice of the Irish Republic, which advocates the peaceful reunification of Ireland, called the IRA decision good news and said the underground's terrorism "was a policy which Irish public opinion had decisively rejected."

In Northern Ireland, minister for home affairs Brian Faulkner said the IRA statement "is of course welcome. The tragedy is that these misguided people who have carried on a futile campaign for five years have taken so long to realize its hopelessness."

But he added: "Until it is seen that the campaign is in fact ended, our own people can be

Job Cutting Power Urged For Railroads In The U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential commission recommended today that labor unions give United States railroads broad leeway to streamline operations and eliminate thousands of jobs found unnecessary to run the trains.

But the commission, reporting to President Kennedy following a year-long study, said the carriers would have to be prepared to ease the blow on displaced workers by providing them with partial pay for periods up to three years as well as schooling for other jobs.

The report agreed with industry complaints that the railroads have been saddled with costly "featherbedding" rules and practices requiring pay for unneeded work. Most locomotive firemen were found to serve no useful purpose and gradual elimination of their jobs was recommended.

But the commission also had much to say about the plight of the U.S. rail workers, whose ranks have dwindled from more than 2,000,000 in 1920 to less than 800,000 today. The study was concerned only with the problems of the 200,000 rail operating employees—those manning the moving trains.

These are the principal recommendations:

1. Abolish firemen beginning next July 1 from all freight and yard service locomotive crews. This alone would wipe out some 35,000 jobs.
2. Give the railroads "an unlimited right to introduce technological change," subject to the continued pay and other protections provided for employees losing their jobs.
3. Eliminate crew change requirements at inter-divisional terminals.
4. Overhaul the complex operating employee pay system, so workers will be paid both for the time and mileage on their runs. The commission found widespread pay disparities and inequities which recommended be corrected.
5. Shorten work hours for many workers. The commission found some employees working only four hours for a day's pay, others as much as 18 hours. It said a present 16-hour limit on a work day should be quickly reduced to 14 and eventually to 12.
6. Require more overtime pay to discourage management from working men long hours. This would help spread jobs. Along that line, an immediate mandatory retirement for men 70 or older was recommended. Over a five-year period the mandatory retirement age would be reduced to 65.

Medical Health Officer Asks To Call Meeting

A typhoid epidemic may be needed to prod public apathy over unhealthy water and sewage conditions in Kelowna's southern outskirts, several authorities said here.

Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical health officer, said the conditions existing in the Five Bridges, South Pandosy and Meikle Subdivision areas, which are outside city limits, are "one of the most outstanding health problems in the entire area."

He said the area has a density of population equal to any of that within the city yet are without vital services. There are approximately 700 people living in the Five Bridges area and another 1,250 in the South Pandosy area.

The Health Unit has asked government agent Ross Oatman to call a meeting of residents in the area and outline the various health hazards. Dr. Clarke also approached the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce last night.

In a letter, he said the Health Unit has been unable to interest any citizens or groups to take the initiative and pump for improvement of the conditions.

A recent court case indicated one of the area residents was literally drinking his own sewage.

What is needed, it is believed, is a corps of 10 people to "talk it up and knock on doors" to interest people in the area a serious health issue exists and could develop into something extremely serious.

Dr. Clarke told the C of C one of the stumbling blocks to informing the residents has been people involved in the tourist industry in the area.

"There seems to have been pressure from those interested in the tourist trade to suppress information on this condition," he said in his letter.

C of C vice-president Tom McLaughlin told fellow members the unhealthy situation was more iron in the fire for the formation of an Area Planning Commission.

ENDANGER HEALTH
"Such conditions endanger not only the health of people there but everywhere else," he said today.

Logger Avoids $12 Bill - Pays $270 To City Court

Avoiding $12 room bill cost a west coast logger $270 in Kelowna police court today.

John Elliott Armstrong was fined $100 and costs by Magistrate D. M. White.

The costs—$170 incurred by police after Armstrong had to be returned from the coast to face the charge arising from non-payment of a motel bill last November.

A series of remands were granted Armstrong but he failed to appear on the last one and a bench warrant had to be issued for his arrest. One of the reasons given in court was the out-of-the-way location where he worked. He was represented by John Peacock.

RCMP INVESTIGATE BREAK-INS IN NORTH DISTRICT OF CITY

RCMP are investigating two overnight break-ins in the north Kelowna district.

Smash-and-grab thieves netted $170 worth of cigarettes and a few chocolate bars from Ed's Grocery, Glenmore St., after breaking a front window. A window at the Doug Kerr Auto Body on St. Paul St. was forced but police report nothing apparently was taken.

Both break-ins occurred between 2 and 3 a.m. RCMP believe. A prowler was reported in the area about the same time.

Some suspects have been checked out but RCMP would appreciate any leads.

Monarchy Actually Is Profit-Making Venture

There has been considerable comment in London, England, newspapers recently about the Earl of Snowdon not making any money for himself and about the cost of renovating the home of Princess Margaret and the Earl. The comments would suggest that the monarchy establishment costs the British taxpayer quite a bit in taxes. This is far from the truth. The truth is, in fact, that the monarchy actually makes a profit for the British government.

This doubtless will be a surprise to many people—especially our American friends, who always comment about Canada having to pay taxes to "keep up the Queen," thereby showing their complete ignorance. Last year, it has been estimated, the British government made between $3 and $4 profit from Queen Elizabeth and her family.

It all began back in 1760 when King George III turned over all royal properties and lands and the income from them for a fixed annual allowance. He, in effect, accepted a salary.

This salary is broken down into several segments known as the Civil List. Queen Elizabeth's annual allowances total $1,794,000. It includes her private purse, household salaries, household expenses, charities, sums for the Queen Mother, Prince Philip, the Queen's uncle, Princess Margaret, the Princess Royal and contingencies.

Expenses of keeping up the Royal family and running the Royal properties—from which the government derives an income, were said to have been $4,315,000 in 1960. However the income from the properties was $9,327,000, leaving a net profit of better than $5 million. In 1959 the estimated profit to the government was $4,284,000.

Of course, the Queen's personal wealth does not enter into this picture at all. Her fortune has been estimated at between $140 and $168 million. How did this develop? The explanation is that Albert and Victoria, helped by an inheritance of 500,000 pounds, built a fortune through land deals and investments which at Victoria's death in 1901 was estimated at about $20 million.

Edward VII also made some shrewd investments. For instance, he purchased the bog Sandringham estate for some $880,000 and this property is now valued at more than $3 million. Prince Albert bought Balmoral in Scotland for about $100,000 and today it couldn't be bought for $6 million. Similar jumps in value have affected all the Royal holdings.

Jewels owned by the Royal family, apart from the Crown jewels, add another huge amount to the Queen's wealth but their value has never been estimated. The world's largest cut diamond, the Star of Africa, weighs 530 carats. The Royal family also owns some 6,000 paintings of inestimable value.

There are some who argue that all private Royal wealth should be turned over to the government to be used for public disposal. However it would be equally as logical to argue that the Rockefeller, for instance, should turn everything they own over to the United States government.

When next one reads that objection is being made to some expenditure on behalf of the Royal family, it should be remembered that, rather than being an expense, the operation actually makes a monetary profit for the British taxpayer. A profit to the tune of between $3 and $5 millions each year. And that is not chicken feed.

Navajo Code Talk

An interesting angle of World War II and the part played by the United States in that struggle is furnished by the fact that the Navajo Indian language was extensively used for code purposes.

There seems to be a widespread belief that its use was the result of a suggestion made by an English trader. This, seemingly, was not the case however.

Actually, the idea was introduced to the U.S. Marine Corps by Philip Johnston, a Los Angeles civil engineer who had spent his boyhood on the Navajo reservation.

Johnston took four educated Navajos to Camp Elliott in San Diego to demonstrate the possibilities of such a code.

With hopeful prospects of the experiment proving a success, Johnston joined the service and was entrusted with the task of recruiting suitable personnel and training the men who qualified.

The Navajo code, utterly baffling to the Japanese, proved of inestimable value in the South Pacific warfare from Guadalcanal to Iwo Jima.

At last reports Johnston, now retired, was living near Flagstaff, Arizona, where he occasionally runs across some of the veterans of this unique communication service.

Tokyo Now Biggest City

When we talk about some of our Canadian cities becoming overcrowded, we should take a look at Tokyo, Japan. This month Tokyo is boasting to be the first city in the world to pass a population figure of 10 millions. The latest figures for runners-up in the population competition give London, England, a population of 8.2 million, and New York 7.78 million.

When we return to our own Dominion we find that Montreal has a population of 1.3 million, while the total population for the whole of Canada is just 18.2 millions.

In Passing

"What would you do if following an atomic war you were the only man left alive on earth?" asks a psychologist. We'd immediately begin a strenuous and extensive search to see if any women were left alive.

"You should live every day as if you knew it would be your last day on earth," says a moralist. No could do. If we were that badly frightened, we wouldn't last 30 minutes.

To test the strength of an astronaut's gear and capsule, harness up a claustrophobe and place him in a capsule. If he doesn't break out of both in ten minutes or less, the gear and capsule are AOK.

"If I weren't an optimist, I couldn't live in this sad and dreary world," says a movie actor. If he weren't a pessimist, he wouldn't consider this world sad and dreary.

U Thant's Mild Manners Hides Tough-Minded Man of Action

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—

The acting secretary-general of the United Nations has been called gentle, soft-spoken, unobtrusive, self-effacing, tolerant and serene.

But during his first three months in office, U Thant has demonstrated that he is also a tough-minded man of action.

He has made it clear that he does not regard himself simply as an administrator. Instead, he intends to play a positive role in trying to maintain world peace—a concept originated and developed by his predecessors, Trygve Lie and Dag Hammarskjöld.

Although the 53-year-old Burmese diplomat assumed office in the darkest days of UN history, he has won plaudits for the vigorous manner in which he carries out his duties.

DEFEAT UN GLOOM
He already has taken important—and in some cases controversial—action in The Congo. He has taken the lead in trying to head off the UN's threatened bankruptcy by proposing an unprecedented bond issue of $200,000,000. He is seeking to mediate the dispute between The Netherlands and Indonesia over New Guinea, and he has taken steps to broaden the political and geographic structure of the secretariat.

There is almost universal agreement that his actions have helped to dispel the deep gloom which enveloped UN headquarters after Hammarskjöld's death in a plane crash last September.

U.S. delegate Adlai Stevenson says that Thant has made "an admirable beginning." Britain's Sir Patrick Dean describes Thant's work so far as "splendid."

These views are widely shared but are not unanimous. Thant has been criticized sharply by some groups in the United States, Britain, France and Belgium for his use of UN forces against the troops of Katanga's President Moise Tshombe.

There is still one big question mark: Can he continue to hold the support of the Russians?

So far there has been no serious friction, even though Thant has taken steps known to be contrary to Soviet wishes. The Russians have simply dropped reminders that Thant's appointment is temporary and that they are watching every move.

The Russians are unhappy with Thant for just the opposite reasons of his critics in the West. They insist he has not shown enough enthusiasm in his efforts to liquidate Tshombe's mercenaries and that he erred in trying to make peace between Tshombe and the central Congolese government. They also oppose the UN bond issue.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin recently stated that whether the Kremlin will drop its demands for a troika, or three-man leadership arrangement, and support Thant for a full five-year term as secretary-general will depend on what happens during the next few months.

The question is expected to come up during the fall meeting of the general assembly, although Thant's stop-gap term does not end until April, 1963. The Russians can block his action by a security council veto.

If Thant is concerned, he doesn't show it. But he is not making any long-range plans, either. He intends to continue living in the east side apartment which he occupied as Burma's permanent delegate to the United Nations.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Kids Please Don't Fret!

I'm sorry for many of the teenagers who write to me, worrying themselves sick over some fear or other which, in most instances, is actually a problem that can be very easily solved. The youngsters magnify symptoms too much.

The example today happens to be from a girl of 17 who is "ready to go insane" because she is afraid she has syphilis, even though she realizes, she writes, that "such a disease occurs most often through sexual contact, and I am a virgin."

(She's right; it is only very rarely communicated in any other way. It's POSSIBLE but it would still require close and probably continued contact with a person who had the disease in the communicable stage, so worrying about syphilis in the absence of sexual contact is far more futile than, for example, worrying about being hit by lightning when it's raining.)

Anyway, the girl writes that it's "impossible to talk to my mother," and that's something else I hear quite often. Whether the reticence is on the part of the parent, or the child, or both, in such cases doesn't matter.

The fact is that it's hard for a great many children to talk freely to their parents, and merely saying that the kids "ought" to speak up is no answer at all. They think they can't, and that's that.

To continue about today's 17-year-old, she recites three or four "symptoms" which could—by abstract definition—be signs of syphilis. One, for example, is "skin trouble."

To someone who has merely read about signs of the disease, her symptoms are a logical enough; she adds enough clues to make it clear to me that she hasn't anything that really resembles a sign of venereal disease. But she doesn't realize this!

So what's to be done about such teen-age worries, which can assume staggering proportions?

Well, it seems to me that perhaps one solution would be for youngsters (or this girl, in particular) to write a note to the family doctor. Maybe it's hard to speak up, face to face, but if she can write to me, she can also write to her own family doctor. Her letter to me would be excellent. Or she could modify it to add "Next time I come in for anything, would you make whatever test is necessary, because I'm really worried about this."

I'm sure the doctor would go along with the little plot. If he's been in practice for more than two weeks, he's already learned a lot of family secrets which he has tucked away in the deepest part of his mind, to be forgotten.

The age of a patient isn't important. To a doctor, a confidence is a confidence, and will be kept as such. It's a means by which our children, I think, can stop worrying themselves crazy about things that could be solved and dismissed quickly, once brought into the open.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is grand mal? I'm taking medication to prevent a recurrence.

M.F.N.
Grand mal is one type of epileptic convulsion. It is called that to differentiate it from "petit mal," which is an extremely brief (but often an extremely frequent) spasm which lasts only a split second.

Both are "convulsive disorders," both often can be controlled indefinitely by use of various combinations of the fairly new anti-convulsant drugs which are a priceless boon to people with this sort of trouble.

NOTE TO R.O.C.: No, abdominal surgery is not required in cases of hemorrhoids.

UNITED KINGDOM REPORT

U.K. Metro Police Shame On You!

By M. McINTYRE HOOD

Special London (Eng.) Correspondent

For The Daily Courier

LONDON — The records of the magistrates' courts in Britain produce the facts of many unusual and sometimes amusing cases, but few can equal a case which has been brought into court at Farnborough in Hampshire. It involves a stunt undertaken by a body of students from the Royal Aircraft Establishment as part of a campaign to raise funds for charity. As a result of it, no fewer than 53 summonses have been issued by the police against 13 students. The incident occurred last September, but the case is only now coming to court.

As one of their stunts in their charity drive, these students rigged up a bedstead, attached a motor to it, and drove it through the streets of the town in a rag-day parade. And this wholesome bit of fun in a good cause has landed the students in a peck of trouble.

FIVE CHARGES

Five of the summonses have been issued against the young man who actually drove the motorized bedstead through the streets in the parade. He is Richard Brown, a 19-year-old apprentice at the Royal Aircraft Establishment.

It is charged that the mechanically-propelled vehicle which he drove, to wit, the motorized bedstead, was not licensed, was not insured, did not have efficient brakes and did not display learner licence plates. It is further charged that Brown, as the holder of a provisional driving licence, was not accompanied by the holder of a full licence when he drove it on the public highway at Farnborough.

The remaining 48 summonses have been issued against 12 other students, including 11-year-old Miss Sally Bally. All members of the student rag committee who allegedly aided Brown.

IMPOSING SUMMONSES

Here is a sample of the summonses which have been served on them:

"That on the 30th day of September at Farnborough in the County of Hampshire, they did unlawfully aid, abet, counsel and procure one Richard George Brown on a certain public road called Boundary Road, to use a certain mechanically-propelled vehicle for which no licence under the Vehicles Excise Act, 1945, was in force, contrary to Section 15 of that Act and Section 35 of the Magistrates' Court Act, 1952."

Other summonses detail offences against the Motor Vehicles Driving Licence Regulations, and the Road Traffic Act, all arising out of the harmless prank of this group of students.

The bedstead, which had been adapted for the purpose by the students, was powered by an engine borrowed from a student's motorcycle. Brown, in a night-cap and night-shirt, and snuggled into blankets, steered it in a two and a half hour parade during which a sum of $1,800 was raised for charities.

According to James Wallis, one of the committee, Brown was stopped in the course of the parade by a policeman, and was told he would be reported. But none of the participants in the event ever dreamed that they would, some months later, have to appear in court to face a list of serious charges over their innocent prank.

Dickens Would Be Approving Today

LONDON (CP) — Charles

Dickens was born 150 years ago and Londoners are wondering what the 19th century's master novelist of social evil would think of his city today.

By and large they rest easy. The London of Dickens was a dirty, clogged kitchen-sink of a world that would leave the bitterest of Britain's angry young writers floundering for descriptive phrases.

His debtor's prison, the Fleet, is gone and now the concrete palaces of 20th-century journalism stand in its place.

Filthy pavements, where once his tattered Cockney flower girls begged, are cleaned now by Indians, West and East, over whom the rod of empire lately swayed.

His twisting streets and narrow lanes remain, thanks only to the efforts of historical societies. The gas lamps flicker on for curious tourists.

The fogs, his "London particulars," still roll in from the murky Thames.

NEW DODGERS

His Oliver Twists now don't ask for more; they get it whether they like it or not. And the only artful dodgers left are pedestrians in rush hour.

Sam Weller, whose knowledge of London "was extensive and peculiar," would be at a loss for words for once. Hitler's bombs and the welfare state have left a new London.

Or at least a different one. Monica Dickens, the novelist's great-granddaughter, thinks there are still causes in 1962 against which the old man, whose birthday was Feb. 7, England.

would crusade.

"He tried to root out squalor and he would find much to clean up still in the anachronism of our slums, hospitals, infirmaries, hotels and prisons, which he saw built and would be shocked to find still darkly standing," she says in a newspaper article.

Miss Dickens pinpoints the 11-plus examinations, which determine a child's educational future at the end of primary school, as a "more modern subtle form of cruelty to children" than the brutality in the ragged schools of a century ago.

WOULD HAVE FOUGHT

She also cites the modern evils of bureaucracy, the plight of old people and the crippling taxes which destroy artistic creativity.

"Charles Dickens would never have hand over without a struggle that 19 shillings in the pound surtax on his royalties."

"We are so used with staggering news that we turn scarcely a hair at massacre, flood, famine and the carnage of war."

"Perhaps that would be his greatest crusade—to shake us out of apathy."

But Dickens's London of old, the London of grotesque characters and bleak, satanic houses, still survives today in the imaginations of Russian students.

The Sunday Telegraph's Moscow correspondent, Jeremy Wolfenden, says nearly every educated Russian has read Dickens's novels. An English language specialist probably would have read all Dickens's works—a feat rare in England.

Russian Red-Tape Cutters Warned

men who cut through Soviet red tape and play havoc with the planners' calculations but make sure that goods get from one factory to another as fast as possible have been warned that their activities must stop.

These men—thousands are scattered all over the Soviet Union—are called "folkachi" or "fixers." For years factories and trusts, big and small, throughout the land have had them in their payrolls as "representatives" or "supply agents" to beat slow and cumbersome bureaucracy.

Their activities have for long been officially frowned upon—but unofficially tolerated.

The reason for the fixer's success is not difficult to find. His opportunities are provided by the highly-centralized and often over-planned industrial network of the Soviet Union. Although he is officially abused, he has helped the regime flourish.

As a contact man with a generous expense allowance, he arranges barter deals. He may even work for several organizations. His task is to ensure quick and smooth delivery of such things as raw materials and machinery, from one factory to another.

WORK TOGETHER

A motorcycle factory is Sverdlovsk, for example, may find output lagging because of a tire shortage. So the fixer moves in. He travels to Chelyabinsk to a tire factory—and discovers, perhaps, that it urgently needs building materials such as bricks.

The fixer seeks out co-fixers in the region and finds out where bricks are available. He goes to the brickyard or factory and learns that the workers can't buy motorcycles to travel to and from work.

With a bribe and a smile, all is arranged—to the satisfaction of everyone but the central planning board. The motorcycle factory gets its tires, the tire factory its bricks and the brick factory its motorcycles.

Now the fixers are under fire. A recent resolution of the Communist party's central committee reported that 2,238 fixers called last year on the Magnitogorsk iron and steel plant in the Urals, the largest in the republic.

The resolution said the commission of state control is not "fully using its right to fine those responsible for employing fixers" and that the ministry of finance is not carrying out an "active enough struggle against lavish business expenses."

Entertainment continued with community singing led by K. Humphreys with organ accompaniment by Mr. Austen.

Mr. Robert DeMara then call- ed Mrs. Hazel McDougall to the stage where she rendered two humorous readings from one of Pierre Berton's latest books, to the enjoyment of the audience.

An Engagement Of Interest

The wedding will take place in Kelowna in September. Both Miss Bowles and her fiancé are stationed with the R. C. A. P. at Saint Hubert Quebec. She has been an airwoman since January 1961.

ANN LANDERS

Reaping As He Sowed

Dear Ann Landers: What is wrong with my wife? We were married for 30 years and raised seven fine children. She stayed home like a good woman should and took care of the kids. She also milked the cows and tended a big vegetable garden. I used to go out a few nights a week with the boys. We played cards and had some drinks. I figured I owed myself this be- cause I worked hard all year. There was no reason for both of us to be home with the kids. Now they are all married. My wife got herself a job and bought a car. She runs to help out at church, the Red Cross and other such places. Her clothes are modern and she looks good.

I'm retired now and don't go out much anymore. I want her to be here during the day with me. Please tell her to stay home where she belongs. She will listen to you. —BY MYSELF.

Dear By Yourself: Your wife sounds like a long-suffering, self-sacrificing woman who lived up to her responsibilities as a mother with very little help from you.

Now she's enjoying life and I applaud her independence. You, my friend, are reaping what you sowed.

Dear Ann Landers: If you can solve this problem you're a genius.

My father-in-law is the world's worst driver. Pops is in his 70's and his vision is poor. He wears a hearing aid but keeps it turned off 90 percent of the time to "save the batteries." He's an inveterate talker and when he directs his remarks to someone in the back seat he turns to look at them and forgets that he's driving a car.

I wouldn't offend him for the world, but my heart is in my mouth whenever Pops is at the wheel. My husband always offers to drive when we have our two children along because he worries, too. But Pops says he enjoys driving and that ends it.

He has never had a serious accident but many creamed fenders, smashed grills, etc. Please Ann, what's the answer?

—DOROTHY.

Dear Dorothy: At some point you're going to have to decide which is more important — your family's lives or your father-in-law's feelings. When you make that decision, the problem will solve itself.

Dear Ann Landers: My next door neighbor has a little boy seven years old. He is one of the cutest little fellows I've ever seen.

His mother is a timid soul who lets her husband make all the decisions in the family. This child's father is demand- ing and opinionated. I've seen him almost pull the boy's arm out of its socket to get him into the house when one word would have done just as well. He slaps the child across the face and knocks him around con- stantly. Once he dislocated the boy's arm and they had to call the doctor.

The youngster stutters and holds his head down when he speaks to people. He is terrified of his father and of the world. His teacher is my niece and she told me that the boy never recites in school. He is afraid of his own voice.

Please tell me what I can do to help. My husband says I should keep quiet and not stick my neck out.

—CAN'T STAND IT.

Dear Can't Stand It: Even the lowly turtle must stick his neck out if he wants to make pro- gress. Sitting silently by and al- lowing injustice to go unchal- lenged is cowardly.

The best approach would be through the child's teacher. Ask her to make an appointment with the father. No man wants to ruin his son's life. If she can make him see what his brutality is doing, it would be a tremen- dous service.

Most Buy Late Models Not So Connoisseurs

VENON (Staff) — Most people buy automobiles, the latest model if they can afford it, for pleasure and enjoyment. Some buy a car strictly for transportation, any model will do. Then there's the third breed of car owners, the enthusiast — the connoisseur.

Brad Clark, a 24-year-old man-about-town, knows what he wants and got it when the family acquired a 1907 Metz. It's strictly a show piece, draped in plastic covering against dust and grit.

"Jewel of automobiles," according to the owner, and will only be run for special occasions like parades. It's reputed to be in perfect running condition though.

In conjunction with his father, who owns and operates an wholesale automobile firm in Vernon, he bought the classic car from Sam Miller of Kelowna, last fall, but Brad steadfastly refuses to state the purchase price or its current estimated worth.

NOT SO MODEST

Casual visitors to the shop are not so modest. They stated, quite definitely, it is worth at least $10,000 in its present state, and that appraisal could be upped if the original Surrey top was still intact.

"The" Metz has most of its original equipment except for a new paint job, done when the car made an appearance in a auto firm window in Vancouver. It was transported at that time to the coast by truck.

There is right hand steering, two pedals on the floor board; one for gas the other spark advance; gear controls are on the running board, any number forward or backward can be used. The engine is two cylinders, air cooled.

The solid brass head and parking lights are carbide and the right front light can be moved almost 90 degrees to allow full leverage when cranking the motor.

If you're interested the car is not for sale. It's being kept for posterity," Brad says quite determinedly.

MORE SNOW DUE FOR VERNON AREA

VERNON (Staff) — While Vernon residents thought they had experienced the last of the winter's snow, weatherman Frank Reade today reports snowfall this year to date is "considerably down" from the same period in 1961.

Exactly .03 inches of snow fell in the district overnight, but weatherman Reade says the barometer is falling and more snow can be expected. Hours of sunshine is above average for February this year compared with the same month last year.

Possible Solution Found To Lumby Sewer Problem

LUMBY (Correspondent) — Engineers have come up with a possible solution to Lumby's sewage problem.

Lowest tender for installation was $77,000 with the estimation set at $65,000.

Specifications have been changed allowing pipes to be laid at depths of five and six feet instead of the original eight and 12 feet. It has also been decided to have separate tenders for the auxiliary power unit making it possible for this to be installed later if costs dictate it.

Documents on the revised specifications will be forwarded to the three firms who submitted tenders and those firms who investigated but did not make a bid will be advised that they may do so with new tenders being opened March 12.

The Village Commission also learned that as in all other centres the line is not designed to handle basement drainage.

Commissioner George Morrison was appointed village representative to the Lumby Days Committee and asked to request a meeting with last year's committee for accounting of funds.

Commissioner Mrs. Josi Martin was asked to consult Herb LaFontaine, physical education teacher at Charles Bloom High School, for specifications on the proposed bleachers for the park.

He Fulfilled An Ambition -- Cougar Hunt With Pros

By ROBERT BAUER
(Courier Sports Writer)

Throughout the years one acquires certain ambitions desirous to be fulfilled.

Being an avid fish and game enthusiast, I was given the opportunity to fulfill one of these ambitions last weekend.

Along with local Game Warden Don Ellis and well-known Rutland sportsman Sam Lee and two cougar hounds, we travelled to the Joe Rich area in an effort to track down cougar known to be killing deer in that area.

The prevailing weather conditions were by no means any added comfort, but wildlife enthusiasts generally accept any conditions once they get the fever.

For Ellis and Lee this was just another cougar hunt, but for myself, there was plenty of color and excitement yet to be discovered.

Existing snow conditions in the immediate area were relatively good in the sense of walking but not for tracking.

DEER KILLED

We moved into the bush at approximately 8:30 a.m. and trekked slowly but steadily for about a mile and a quarter to a spot where a deer had been brought to its death earlier in the week.

By this time there was only hide and hooves left of the animal along with sufficient cougar scent to start the dogs a-whining.

At this point the dogs are as anxious and excited as a child having a birthday party.

First Ellis, then Lee, unleashed the dogs and they were on their way.

It was only a matter of minutes before both dogs started barking, first intermittently then continuously.

About a quarter of a mile further, with Lee closely behind, the two canines, and Ellis and myself making an earnest endeavor to catch up, we knew from the continuous barking and chopping that the big cat had been treed.

SPOTS COUGAR

It was the "Eagle Eye" of Lee who first spotted the animal in the tree and stood beneath it hollering for the two of us to hurry it up.

Both dogs stayed beneath the tree and continuously defied the cougar to come down and battle it out. But it wasn't going to have any of that nonsense and just maintained its position. Little did it know what was to take place in the next few moments. Had he known there is little doubt it would have made an escape bid.

By now, with both dogs in frantic defiance, Lee had climbed an adjacent tree with only a distance of about six feet between him and the cougar. With stick in hand he proceeded to annoy the animal for another ten minutes or so while Ellis and I did our cougar shooting with our cameras.

Ellis won that shooting contest having used a movie camera and catching all the action that took place, and believe me there was plenty.

Then it was Lee, taking over with a .22 pistol in hand, dropping the big cat to the ground. Having only wounded the animal, it made it's last desperate attempt to escape the quintet surrounding it, only to have the dogs make it short-lived.

DOGS POUNCE

With bounds in pursuit, the animal's escape bid lasted only about 50 feet with both dogs pouncing on it and holding it defenceless until Lee was in position to administer the "coup de grace."

A few camera shots later we were making our exit through the bush back to the car.

Now it was just a matter of having a cup of coffee and a few "wildlife" stories along with dressing out the cougar, and we were homeward bound.

CREDIT HOUNDS

A tremendous amount of credit must go to the hounds. Without the dogs it would have been just another hunting trip. It is the color and excitement that they provide that make the trip a highlight in every aspect, and something that every "wildlife enthusiast" should participate in.

We might also add that Sam Lee's wife Peggy, has participated on numerous successful cougar hunts with her husband.

When you're in the company of men like Don Ellis and Sam Lee you never stop learning. The experience is more than rewarding.

Special mention must be given these two individuals for their endless efforts in maintaining our "Wildlife Conservation."

Galt Dumps Trail 3-1 In Exhibition Fixture

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Galt Terriers, Canada's representatives in next month's world amateur hockey championship, stabled Trail Smoke Eaters with a 3-1 victory here Tuesday night.

The exhibition encounter drew 1,800 fans in this Kootenay city, home of the 1961 world champions.

The Ontario Hockey Association team took a 2-1 first period lead, then added a goal in the third. Trail plays with the Western International Hockey League.

Jackie McLeod, who played with Smoke Eaters last season, scored twice for the visitors and Butch Martin added the third. Gerry Penner fired the only goal for Trail.

Galt Manager Confident In Team

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Manager Leo Gaudette of the Galt Terriers says the club which carries Canada's hopes to the world hockey championships in Colorado Springs, Colo., won't lose another game this year.

The jubilant Gaudette made the statement after the Terriers trounced Trail Smoke Eaters 3-1 in a hard-fought exhibition game here Tuesday night.

"After beating Trail right in their own back yard we won't lose another game this year. We will retain the world title for Canada."

Added Gaudette: "Two months ago I stated the Terriers would only place third in the world tournament, but our club has found the old form it has been looking for."

Smoke's coach Bobby Kromm, however, said the Terriers did not impress him.

"The Terriers did not impress me. The Smoke Eaters certainly have played a much better game had they not lost star centre Hal Jones. We had to juggle our lines and this kind of killed the team."

Jones suffered a groin injury and left early in the game.

NATIVE TOURNEY

Three Teams Favored In Cage Action

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Three teams emerged favorites after the first round Tuesday night of the third annual native basketball tournament here.

Last year's champion Kitimat team downed Queensville 110-30, Kitkatla, last year's runner-up dumped Kitimat 110-41 and the Prince Rupert Chiefs defeated Kitwano 111-34.

In other senior action, Hazelton edged Port Simpson 68-57 and Altona beat Bella Bella 66-63.

In the intermediate section, the 1961 champion Hazelton team defeated Kitimat 76-36, 45-35. Prince Rupert Rockets beat Kitimat 62-31. Prince Rupert Royals beat Kitkatla 65-32. Greenville downed Kitimat 66-33.

THIRD GAME OF FINALS

Buckaroos Must Win It In Kamloops Tonight

It's do or die tonight for the Kelowna Junior Buckaroos when they take on the Kamloops Rockets in the third and what could be the final game of the best-of-five Okanagan Junior Hockey finals.

Buckaroos will have their backs to the wall tonight and will be making a desperate attempt to prolong the series.

In the two previous games, Kamloops has had little trouble in finding the net and pulled through with hard-earned victories. Buckaroos on the other hand have been giving the Rockets more than enough competition but have been unable to show it on the scoresheets.

Kamloops had very little trouble overthrowing the Pentiction Vees in the semi-finals taking the series three games to one.

The Kelowna-Vernon series went the full five games with both teams at their best in every game. Now the two top teams are battling it out into what is termed as an upset or a terrific comeback, whichever the case may be.

BATTLE ALL SEASON

Throughout the regular season of play these same two clubs were battling it out for first and second position giving each other plenty of competition.

Both clubs have displayed a fast-skating, brilliant play-making and a hard-checking brand of hockey, both during the regular season and during the playoffs.

At a regular workout held last night Buckaroo coach Moe Young's only comment was, "We have to win this one or we're finished for this year."

SHOW SPIRIT

Buckaroo manager Bob Glor-

dano had this to say: "The only way we will stay in this series is if the entire club shows the right kind of spirit and desire. The Rockets are by no means that good to beat us 3-3 and 6-1. We haven't had our share of the breaks."

Despite the lopsided scores in recent games no team should be considered a push-over as no game is over until the final whistle, and tonight will be no exception.

An added encouragement towards the Junior playoff competition is the fact that in its first year of operation the Okanagan League has been given the bye into provincial competition.

In goal tonight for Buckaroos will be Don Kennedy, replacing Sid Shussel.

B.C. Rink Still Unbeaten In Dominion Competition

REGINA (CP)—The defending champion Saskatchewan rink, Quebec and Manitoba, dropped from the unbeaten ranks in the Canadian women's curling championship in Tuesday's three rounds.

Unbeaten after five rounds was British Columbia, skipped by Ina Hansen of Kimberley.

Joyce McKee of Saskatoon and Anne Phillips of Mount Royal, Que., are tied with 4-1 records. Manitoba and New Brunswick have three wins and two losses.

British Columbia knocked out Saskatchewan and Manitoba's Kathleen Hebert.

In the third draw Tuesday, Mrs. Hansen dumped Mrs. Hebert 13-6. Then on the fourth day she nipped Saskatchewan 11-10. Quebec won 9-3 over Alberta and 10-9 over Manitoba to set the stage for a 6-7 last-rock loss to Saskatchewan.

In the B.C. - Ontario game, Mrs. Hansen's rink followed the same pattern as in its previous four games—falling behind at the start and coming on strong in the last ends to win.

Fern Irwin's Ontario curlers took a 4-2 lead after six ends and tied the score 7-7 in the ninth with a three-ender.

In the last end, B.C. buried a rock on the front of the four-foot and kept guarding it. When Mrs. Irwin shot her last rock, she had only a chance for a tough double-raise. She missed and left B.C. counting the winning stone.

Japanese Team

Drubbed 10-4 By Chilliwack

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Chilliwack Steelheads downed the touring Japanese Olympic Hockey team 10-4 before nearly 1,200 fans in an exhibition hockey contest here Tuesday night.

Japan's goalie Shochi Tomita was a standout, making 42 stops—16 of them in the third period—compared with only 22 for Chilliwack's Al Wiesner.

The club's eight penalties handed out in the game, which was played under international rules in preparation for the Japanese squad's competition in the world hockey championships next month in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Chilliwack led 2-1 at the end of the first period, and 6-3 after the second.

Norm Usselman paced the winners with three goals. Eddie Schmidt scored two, and singles came from Joe Wovk, Pete Ende, Al Lloyd, Gene Kinley and Dick Middleton.

TUESDAY'S FIGHTS

Sacramento, Calif. — Fred Roofs, 160, Sacramento, knocked out Charlie "Tombsone" Smith, 157, Los Angeles, 7.

Houston, Tex. — Harold Gomes, 131, Providence, R.I., knocked out Paul Alba, 126, Austin, Tex., 2.

Birmingham, England — Jackie Brown, 111½, Scotland, outpointed Brian Cartwright, 111¼, England, 15.

NHL Heads Into Last 4 Weeks Of Schedule

The National Hockey League heads into the last four weeks of its 1961-62 schedule tonight with games at Toronto and New York.

Both games are big ones as three of the four participants are involved in the scramble for final playoff berths.

At Toronto, the Maple Leafs are host to Chicago Black Hawks with both engaged in a struggle for second place. Leafs go into the game with a three-point edge and two games in hand.

Boston Bruins, winless in 14 starts and already out of the running for a playoff spot, are at New York for a go against the Rangers.

The Blueshirts are fighting for fourth place. They currently hold a three-point lead over fifth-place Detroit Red Wings but after tonight's game they will have played three more games than the Wings.

ROYALITES OFF TO PENTICTON FOR 2ND SERIES GAME TONIGHT

Kelowna Royalites', Senior "B" Men's Champs, take on the Pentiction Dealers tonight in Pentiction in the second game of a best of three series.

Royalites emerged the winners in the first game defeating the Dealers 65-56 last Saturday in Kelowna.

Bill Radies, Bill and Mickey Martino and Pete Bulatovich will be leading the local hoopsters in their efforts to wrap up the series.

Winner of this series will meet Quesnel March 9 and 10 in Kelowna for the Interior Championship. This will be a two game total point series.

Dick Richardson Named Fighter Of The Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Richardson, 27, European heavyweight boxing champion Terry Duggan, today was named Ring magazine's fighter of the month for his one-round knockout of Germany's Karl Mildenberger in a title bout.

He was ranked 10th, replacing George Logan of Boise, Idaho. Mildenberger had won 19 straight bouts and had suffered only one defeat in 30 pro fights until he was flattened by Richardson.

Bob Cleroux of Montreal was listed fourth among the heavyweights behind champion Floyd Patterson of New York, Sonny Liston of Philadelphia, Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., and Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz.

SUGAR RAY SLIPS
The battling Denny Moyer handed Sugar Ray Robinson boosted the baby-faced youngster from Portland, Ore., to seventh place from ninth among the middleweights. Sugar Ray, former world welterweight and five-times middleweight king, was demoted to eighth from fourth.

Besides Patterson, Ring recognizes the following as diviweights: Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif.; middleweight Terry Duggan, England; welterweight Benny Paret, Cuba; lightweight Joe Brown, Houston, Tex.; featherweight Davey Moore, Columbus, Ohio; bantamweight Eder Jofre, Brazil and flyweight Pone Kingpet, Thailand.

Pravda Complains About Tardy Russian Farmers

COLUMBUS OUTDATED

HONG KONG (Reuters) — A new claim on who discovered America was made Monday night by an Indian—from India—who claims a countryman reached the Western Hemisphere 2,500 years ago.

Chaman Lal, a Buddhist monk, said an Indian named Harichand reached America in the fifth century B.C., sparking 17 centuries of Indian migration that ended about 1200 A.D.

He said he spent two years researching the question and found an "affinity of cultures" between Indians and the Aztec, Maya and Inca peoples of Central and South America.

Lal said a recent claim in Mainland China that a Chinese beat Columbus to America by centuries was correct in all respects but one — it was an Indian who did it.

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda complained today that many Russian farmers still are not prepared for spring planting, only a few weeks away.

The Communist party newspaper implied that one reason was passive resistance in some areas to new farming methods proposed by Premier Khrushchev, scheduled to go into effect this year.

The farmers' lackadaisical preparations for spring field work, nothing new in the Soviet Union, is especially serious this year, Pravda explained, because of a sharp increase ordered in crop acreage.

The Communist party's central committee will meet next week to adopt a decision pressing into use farm acreage that previously was allowed to stand fallow.

The central committee decision is expected to cut short an internal party debate over the grassland farming system, which Khrushchev wants to root out of Soviet agriculture. This is a conservation program of keeping some marginal land in grass.

Foreign farm experts and some Soviet specialists believe Khrushchev's plan for intensive cultivation of annual crops by doing away with the grassland system could prove disastrous for Soviet agriculture.

EXHIBITION FOOTBALL
 CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampede of the Western football Conference have asked a Spokane group to arrange late July exhibition game against an American Football League club.

Opening lead—jack of spades. This hand was played in the final match. At both tables the contract was four hearts and the opening lead was the jack of spades. At one table the contract was made and the other it was defeated.

At the first table, spades were led and continued, South ruffing the third one. Declarer entered dummy with a diamond and led the jack of hearts and finessed, losing to the king.

West returned a trump, taken by the eight in dummy. Declarer realized that if he drew another round of trump he would be defeated unless it turned out that the clubs were divided 3-3. So rather than pin his hopes solely on a favorable club division, he stopped playing trumps and cashed the queen, king and ace of clubs.

He hoped that if the clubs were not divided evenly the defender who had the greater club length would also have the missing heart. When this turned out to be the case, he was able to ruff his fourth club in dummy and thus make the contract.

At the second table, the play started similarly. Three rounds of spades, declarer ruffing, were followed by a diamond to the king. Here also, declarer led the jack of hearts and finessed, but West allowed the king to win.

Declarer, thinking East had the king, then led the ten of hearts and finessed again. West now took his king and returned a trump, and that was the end of the line for South. He had to lose a club trick eventually and went down one.

Of course, South could have made the hand if he had refused the second heart finesse and gone up with the ace. He could then have followed the same line of play as had been adopted at the first table.

But West gave him the opportunity to go wrong by making a smart defensive play, which was more than the first declarer had had to contend with.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

You will be somewhat restricted where financial matters are concerned. Fine influences govern personal relationships, however, and both family and group activities generally should prove highly enjoyable.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday you should find the month ahead marked by highly satisfactory progress where the attainment of ambitious goals is concerned. After mid-May, however, be careful in business matters, but keep plugging throughout the year, since you will be able to lay a firm foundation for the future. The current months of September and October will be exceptionally good along these lines.

Socially, the last three months of this year should prove highly stimulating and, for the single, romance is indicated during July and August.

Look for an opportunity to travel in August, also for some interesting personal news in December. Avoid extravagance in November and December.

A child born on this day will be realistic resourceful and self-confident.

US Picks Arctic Strips For Planes In Distress

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States Air Force has picked out most northern territory, were some 50 emergency landing strips in the Canadian Arctic by Defence Research Board expeditions to that area in the last few years. There were selected by ground and not aerial survey.

Government officials say the strips were first selected from a study of Canadian aerial photographs. The selection has been confirmed by flights over the emergency landing fields and it is understood the U.S. Air Force has asked permission to make some actual landings.

Lots Of Chocolate To Eat Seems Aim Of Canadians

OTTAWA (CP) — There were 680,200,520 chocolate bars produced in Canada last year. That works out to about 35 bars for each man, woman and child.

The production total was reported today by Dominion Bureau of Statistics. It was a gain of 1.7 per cent from 1960 output. The bureau did not say how many of the bars are consumed in Canada.

Lead silver and zinc output totals for 1961 with the comparable 1960 figures in brackets: Lead 204,605 tons (185,257); zinc 365,462 tons (374,566); silver 28,274,967 fine ounces (30,504,175).

U.S. GIVES INFORMATION
The information put together by the U.S. Air Force, however, has been made available to the Canadian defence and northern affairs departments.

U.S. bombers on airborne alert make more flights over the Arctic islands than Canadian planes, authorities said. The U.S. Air Force wanted to know where these bombers, if in trouble, might land with some degree of safety.

Some civilian airlines, notably Scandinavian, fly the Polar route between Europe and Asia. The only regular air base in the Canadian Arctic islands is at Resolute on Cornwallis Island.

Officials here said it is unlikely that the strips in Canada will aid a great deal in oil and mineral development. Construction of a runway would follow discovery of an oil well and not the other way round.

GUATEMALA CITY (Reuters) — Some 300 Guatemalan students threw rotten tomatoes and eggs at the British legation here Tuesday, protesting the arrest of a fellow student who was captured in Honduras last month.

New Columbia Meetings

VANCOUVER (CP) — A group of University of British Columbia professors today urged renegotiation of the international Columbia River Treaty.

The group said the re-negotiated treaty should either postpone construction of the proposed multi-million dollar Mica Creek dam on the Columbia or drastically reduce costs of Canada's share of downstream benefit power.

The treaty has been ratified by the United States but not Canada, which is in dispute with British Columbia over the financing of the Columbia project.

The $27,000,000 Mica project is one of the key dams in the development which would provide storage on the Columbia system in Canada for production of power in the United States.

The treaty provides that Canada should get 50 per cent of the power generated in the U.S. as a result of Canadian storage.

The group, which said it voluntarily investigated power in B.C. "in an attempt to bring some light on the subject," said West Berlin.
